The views expressed in this Law Review do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Board of Editors.

The essays included in this issue of the Texas Wesleyan Law Review are published as part of the 2007 Conference Law, Culture, and Rights in the Age of Globalization. The Conference is a collaborative effort between select faculty members of the Texas Wesleyan School of Law, the University of Gloucestershire, and the Central Gloucester Initiative in Gloucester, England.

The views expressed in this symposium issue do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the Texas Wesleyan Law Review Board of Editors or the Texas Wesleyan Law Review Staff.
